You're right!

It is puppies barking!

Dogs bark to talk to each other just like cats meow and humans talk!
