Portfolio Teachers Instructions

For the portfolio component of this lesson, give the students time to work on their images as well as sentences. It is important to have the sentences completed so that the students can read out to you what they have read and so that you may also help them complete their sheets. You may even use the WhiteBoard in the lesson to assist students with grammar.

Once the students have completed their sentences, begin a video recording of the live classroom lesson. Have each student read the poem out loud as well as their sentences on what happened before and after the gum fell on the ground!
