Where are we going today?

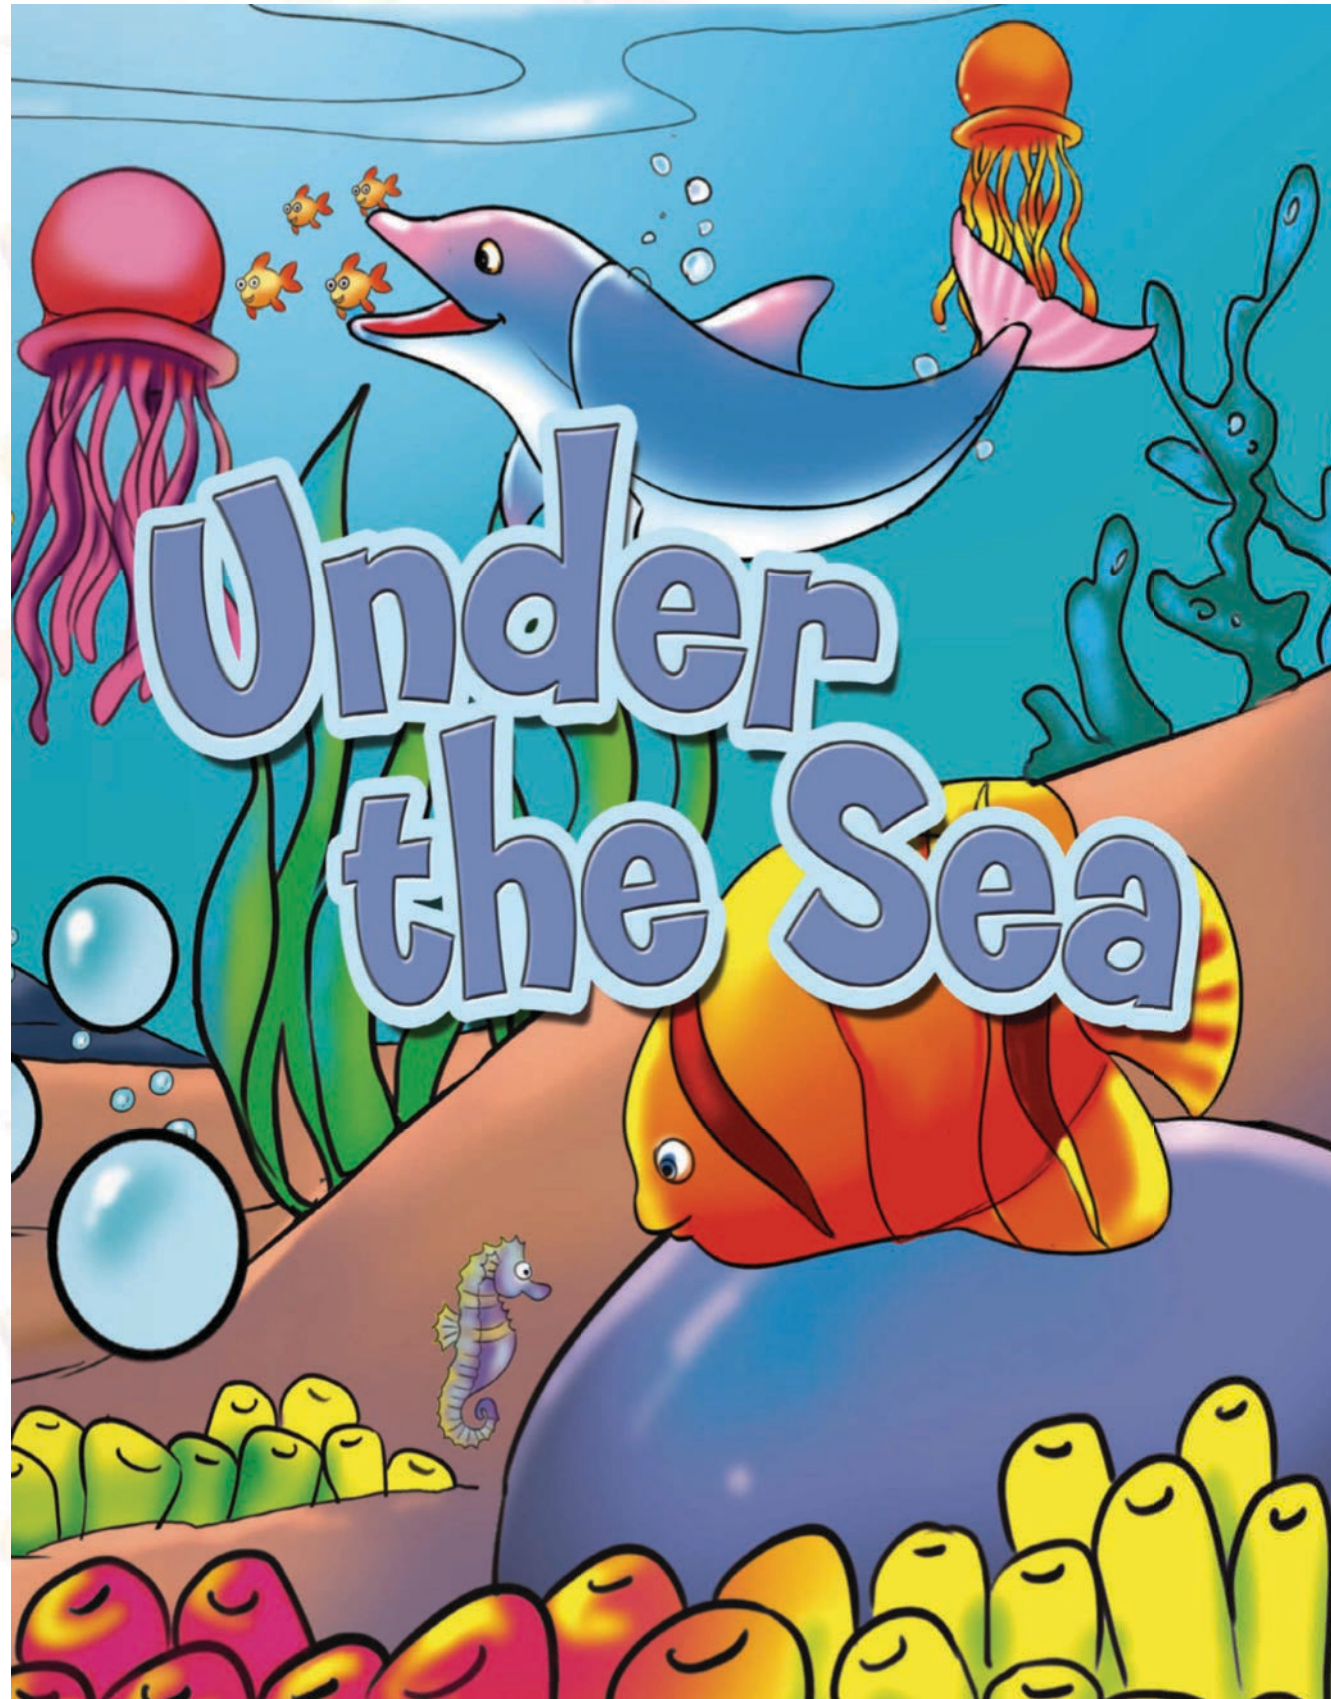

An underwater scene viewed from inside a cave. Large, dark rock formations frame the top and sides of the image. A bright beam of sunlight enters from an opening at the top, creating a strong lens flare and illuminating the water. The water is a deep blue-green color. In the foreground, there are various pieces of coral and sea anemones, including a prominent red one on the right and a yellow one in the center. The background shows more rocky structures and a hint of a larger underwater world.
