

Welcome to the Animal Kingdom! This is Lesson 9!

Game Time

Play the Farm Animals Memory Game

<http://www.eslgamesplus.com/farm-domestic-animals-vocabulary-esl-memory-game/>

Talk to your classmate or teacher about three things you did this week.

Students will:

- Learn to use the sounds (th) in speech and sentences.
- Identify simple synonyms

Learning Simple Synonyms

A 'synonym' is a word that means that same as another.

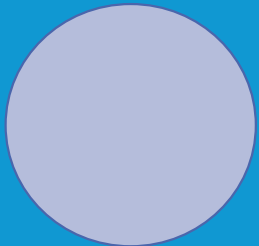

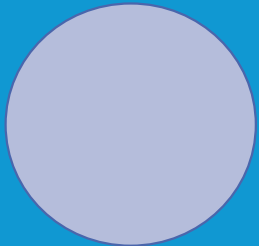

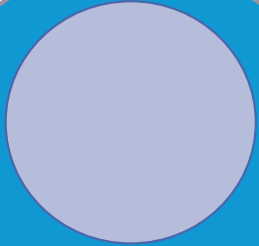

unhappy

low gloomy

down

Happy

Large

Small

angry/mad

happy/glad tired/sleepy

Sandy was angry at school.

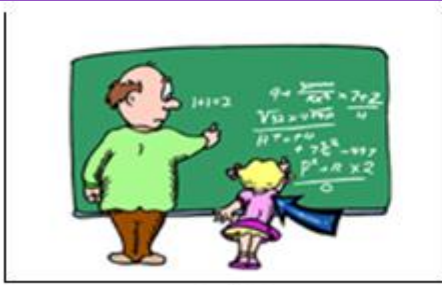

---

The busy bee was happy because he found a beautiful flower.

---

I am tired because I worked really hard.

---

smart/clever afraid/scared

sick/ill

silent/quiet

Bob is a very smart boy.

---

I was very scared to go outside in the dark.

---

I feel ill.

---

Be silent during the test.

---

Students will:

- Learn to use sounds (th) in speech and sentences.
- Identify simple synonyms ✓

Lets read a story

Skipper McFlea

Text by Bronwyn Tainui

Illustrations by Jim Storey

Pre-Reading Activities

What animal is Skipper McFlea?

Describe Skipper McFlea.

Can you guess the events of the story?

Captain Samuels sailed the sea with his parrot Skipper McFlea.

Skipper McFlea sat on his captain's shoulder and sang all day and all night.

"I'm not afraid of pirates,
I'm not afraid of mice.
If you want a job done,
I'll fight anyone!
I'm brave pirate parrot,
Skipper McFlea."

One day Captain Samuels said to Skipper McFlea, "I miss my wife and children. It's time to go back to land."

"Land?" said Skipper McFlea.
"What's that?"

"Land is a wonderful place," said the captain. "You'll love it."

But Skipper McFlea hated living on land. Land didn't rock and roll like the sea. He had to live in a small cage on Captain Samuels' lawn because the family didn't want to hear him sing all day and all night.

He sang very sadly.

"I'm not afraid of pirates,
I'm not afraid of mice.
If you want a job done,
I'll fight anyone!
I'm brave pirate parrot,
Skipper McFlea."

Captain Samuels was so happy to be home with his wife and children that he didn't notice how sad his good friend Skipper McFlea had become.

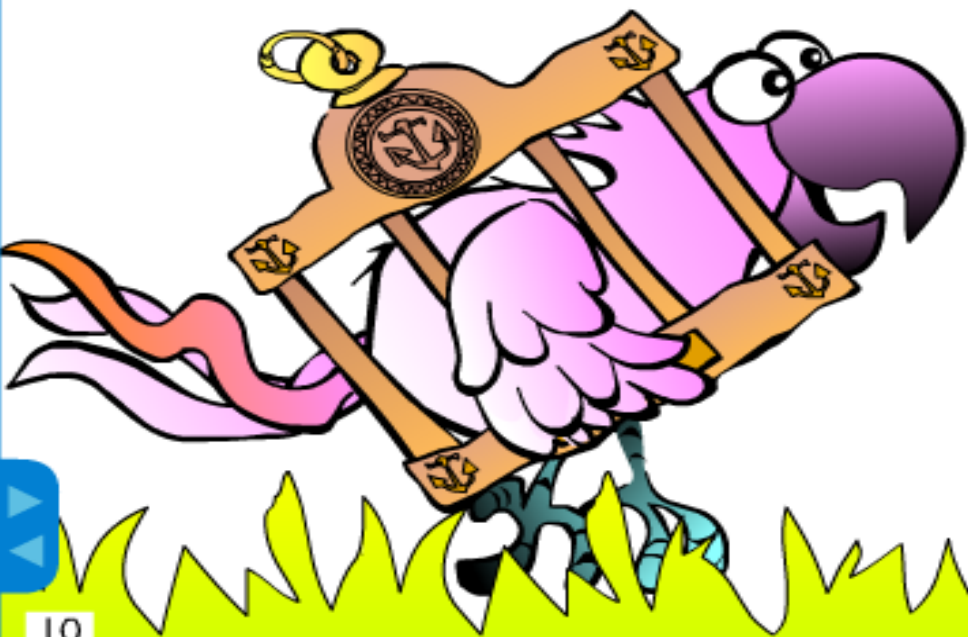

One day Skipper McFlea decided to escape.

Nibble, nibble, nibble!

Skipper McFlea nibbled two holes in the bottom of his cage.

Now he could walk with the cage on his back.

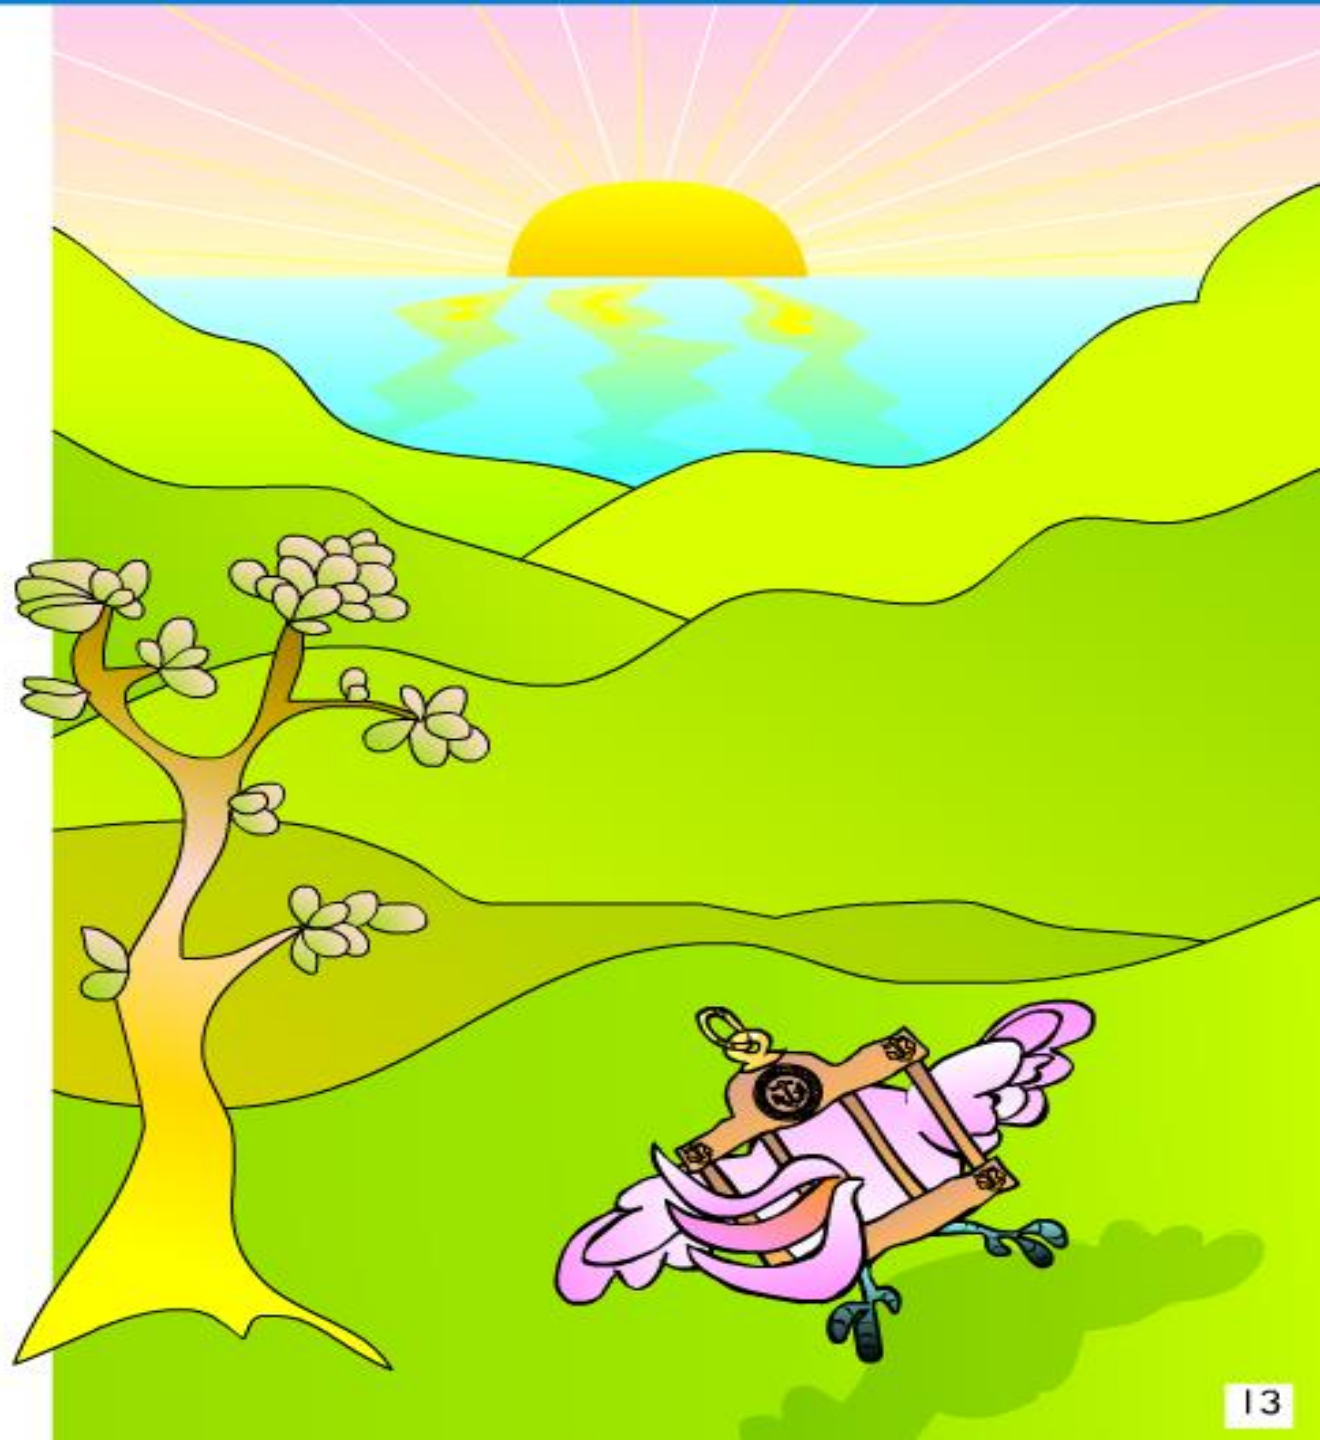

“I’m free! I’m free! Yippee!
Yippee!” sang Skipper McFlea.

He ran across the lawn.

“I’m free! I’m free! I’m going back to the sea!” he sang.

But poor Skipper McFlea banged into a tree.

SPLAT!

His cage tipped up and Skipper McFlea was stuck with his claws in the air.

Captain Samuels and his family came running.

“Are you okay?” they asked.

“If you want a job done,
I’ll fight anyone,
just let me go back to the sea,”
sang Skipper McFlea.

“My poor old friend,” said the captain.

“Skipper McFlea is not happy.
I shouldn’t have put him in a small cage. He has no room to walk and fly,” Captain Samuels said to his wife.

So Captain Samuels built Skipper McFlea a big cage and put him in it.

“No! No!” cried Skipper McFlea.
“Just let me go back to the sea.”

“You’ll love your new cage. Wait and see,” said Captain Samuels.

Skipper McFlea hated his new cage.
He decided to escape again.

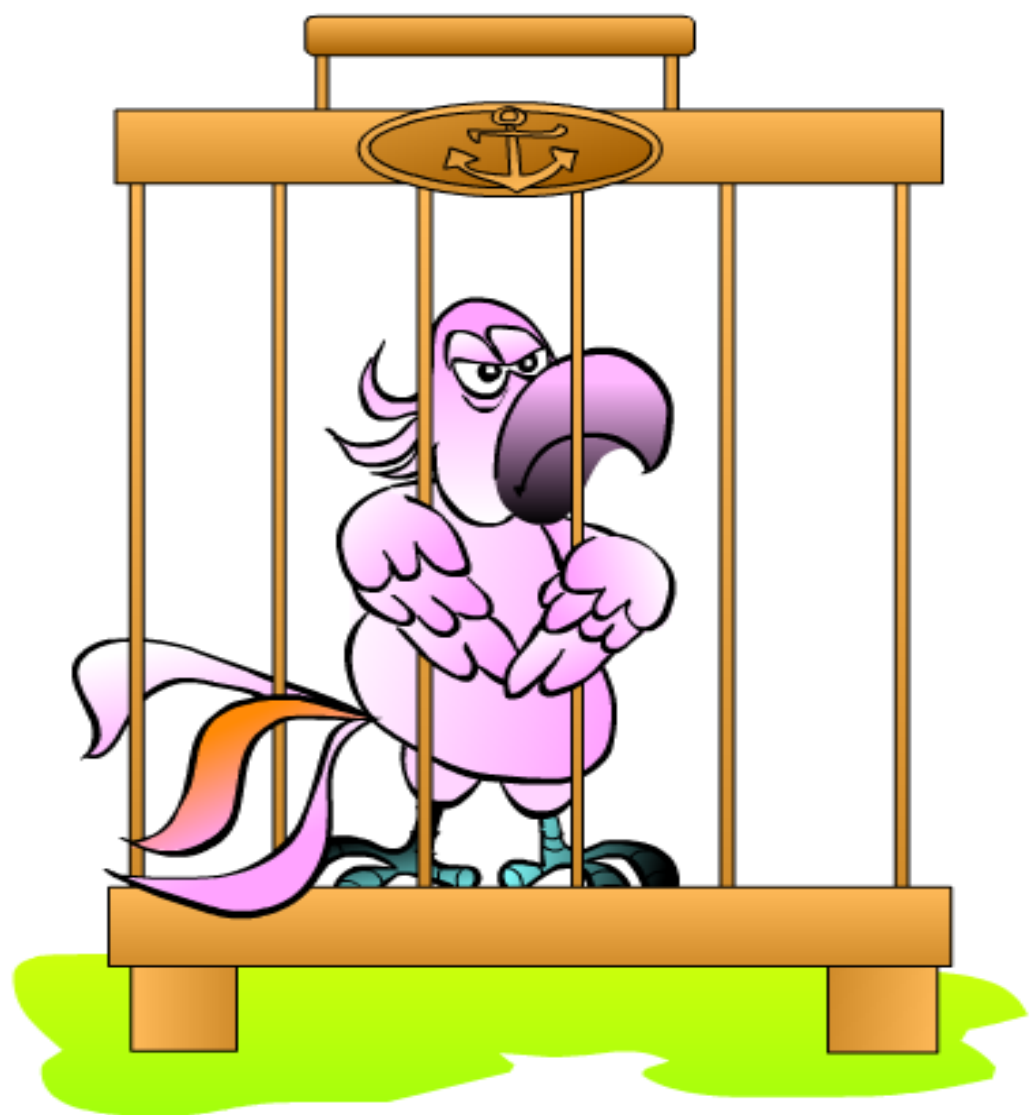

Nibble, nibble, nibble!

Skipper McFlea nibbled two holes in the bottom of his cage.

His claws were free, but Skipper McFlea could not lift his cage. It was too big.

“I’m not afraid of pirates,
I’m not afraid of mice.
I am afraid of cages.
Land just isn’t nice,”
sang Skipper McFlea.

“Poor old Skipper McFlea,” Captain Samuels said to his wife.
“He wants to go back to the sea.”

The next day Captain Samuels and Skipper McFlea went down to the wharf. There they met Sailor Fred.

“Parrots are cool,” said Sailor
Fred. “I would love Skipper McFlea to come sailing with me.”

So Skipper McFlea sailed away with Sailor Fred. Captain Samuels cried as he waved good-bye to his friend.

Skipper McFlea was happy to be back at sea.

“I’m not afraid of pirates,
I’m not afraid of mice.
If you want a job done,
I’ll fight anyone!
I’m brave pirate parrot,
Skipper McFlea.”

Post-Reading Comprehension Questions

Why did the pirate want to go back to the land?

Why was Skipper McFlea sad on the land?

Where did Skipper McFlea want to go after he escaped?

Why didn't Skipper McFlea like cages?

How does the story end?

Reading Activity

The story ends as Skipper McFlea joins Sailor Fred on his pirate boat heading out to sea.

As a class, start the story of Skipper McFlea on his next great adventure.

Each student will write one line of the story.

Each sentence must have an Adjective and a Verb

Skipper McFlea and Captain Fred's Great Adventure!

Students will:

- Learn to use sounds (th) in speech and sentences.
- Identify simple synonyms ✓

LEARNING
OUR WORDS!

Ready, Set, Go!

Have a competition with your classmate or on your own to list as many 'th' words as you can in 1 min.

Write a definition for the 'th' words.

thunderstorm throw thirsty

Write a definition for the 'th' words.

throat

thought

north

Homework

Continue the story of Skipper McFlea on his next great adventure with Captain Fred.

As a class you began this story.

Complete the story for homework and add an illustration showing Skipper McFlea having fun with Captain Fred.

Final Thoughts

- Do you have any questions?

